Ladonna Harris

BIRD RUNNINGWATER/ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR (SUNDANCE)

Working for Sundance, Bird Runningwater is responsible for nurturing the dramatic and documentary film projects of Native American filmmakers. He also serves as a programmer for Sundance Film Festival. A past Woodrow Wilson Fellow, Runningwater has served as the executive director of the Fund of the Four Directions, and as a program associate in the Ford Foundation's Media, Arts and Culture Program. Runningwater currently serves as an advisor to Film Independent's Project Involve Program and as a creative consultant to WGBH's landmark series We Shall Remain. Most recently he was featured and profiled in The Color of Our Future, a book written by Political Commentator Farai Chideya.
