DARREN DALE
BLACKFELLA FILMS

Darren Dale is an independent producer with Blackfella Films, based in Sydney, Australia. Dale began his producing career in the film television industry with SBS, one of Australia's free-to-air public broadcasters, working on a range of television programs. Dale produced the short films Mimi and Flat as part of the Australian Film Commission's Indigenous Drama Initiative 2002, which screened at film festivals, including Sundance and Edinburgh. He is currently producing a dance/drama film for the Australian Broadcasting Corporation and he is a series producer on the landmark documentary series, First Australian Nations for SBS Independent.
